

A1C Jacobson: Gone, but never forgotten

By Staff Sgt. Carissa Lee

EDITOR

It has been a year since the Goodfellow AFB community got the devastating news that one of its Airmen was killed in action defending her country. Airman First Class Elizabeth Jacobson may not be with us any longer, but her legacy and her memory will live on forever, thanks to a memorial that was placed in front of the 17th Security Forces Squadron building Sept. 29.

In a short, but poignant ceremony, a large memorial rock, donated by the United States Air Force Security Police Association was unveiled with a plaque featuring Jacobson's likeness etched on it. Heartfelt words were spoken by the squadron's first sergeant, Senior Master Sgt. Phillip Neal, who shared his personal thoughts on Jacobson with the crowd. He recalled her as being a person who "Always said thank you, please and I'll help."

Although he never met her personally, Col. Scott Bethel, 17th Training Wing commander, said he felt like he knew her because of her "infectious personality and the legend she left behind." He was one of three speakers at the memorial service. The special guest speaker was retired Col. Jerry Bullock, former deputy chief of security police. He authored the "Security Police Prayer" in 1980, a prayer that is still said today.

Bullock read the poem aloud, and asked the members of the audience to recite it with him. He said that although he never had the chance to meet Jacobson in person, he felt a kinship with her, "...a special bond of brotherhood and sisterhood that only security forces members understand."

Jacobson lost her life Sept. 28, 2005 when an improvised explosive device exploded while she was performing convoy security duty outside Camp Bucca, Iraq. At the time of the explosion she was a passenger in a HUMVEE. According to reports, she and the driver were killed instantly. She was the first female Air Force Security Forces Airman to lose her life in Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Although short, the ceremony was a bittersweet reminder of the dangers military members put their lives in on a daily basis. Jacobson's legacy will live on, and she will never be forgotten.

QUICK BRIEFS

Fire Prevention Week parades: The Goodfellow Fire Department is scheduled to conduct parades through Lanham and Nasworthy Housing areas Saturday.

Lanham parade begins at 10 a.m. and the Nasworthy parade begins at 2 p.m.

For more information, call Chief Rick Alter at 654-3532.

17th Comptroller Squadron Closure: The Financial Services Office customer service counter is scheduled to be closed Oct. 26.

These closures are necessary to facilitate preparation of payroll documentation for individuals experiencing severe pay problems. This is necessary to ensure all patrons are being paid accurately and in a timely manner.

For more information, call 654-3741.

Hispanic Heritage Month Luncheon: The Goodfellow Hispanic Heritage Committee will host a luncheon in observance of Hispanic Heritage Month today at 11:30 a.m. at the Community Events Center, formerly known as the Goodfellow Club.

Attire: Duty uniform for military and business dress for civilians.

Base power outage: A power outage is scheduled for Oct. 15 between midnight and 8 a.m.

The outage will affect the entire base including base housing.

MPF Closure: The Base Military Personnel Flight will be closed Oct. 13, 20 and 27, and Nov. 3 and 17.

It will also be closed Dec. 1 so the unit can accomplish Unit Personnel Record Group (UPRG) Migration.

Please note student assignments and base customer service for identification cards will remain open.

Any questions or concerns in this matter should be addressed to Master Sgt. Jeffrey Draper at 654-3302.

Navy Birthday Open House: In celebration of the Navy's birthday, the Center for Information Dominance will hold an open house Oct. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon in Bldg. 420.

CFC: Every right to be proud

Letter from Larry Chesley, former Arizona State Senator and retired Air Force lieutenant colonel

Chesley

I would like to congratulate the wonderful people at Goodfellow for their support of the Combined Federal Campaign.

The last eight years I was in the Air Force, it was one of my assigned tasks. I can tell you I never got the campaign completed in a week.

Col. Bethel has every right to be proud of his troops. The funds raised by the CFC do much good.

I have had the opportunity to visit dozens of organizations that the CFC supports.

Thank you.

FIREFIGHTER BALL: LAST DAY FOR TICKETS

The Military Firefighter Heritage Foundation is sponsoring the 4th Annual Fire Fighter Ball Oct. 14 at the C.J. Davidson Auditorium at Angelo State University. The event will include cocktail hour, dinner, program, dancing, a silent auction and door prizes.

Cost is $30 per person.

For more information, call Priscilla Beamer at 654-5360 or Michael Robertson at 654-4831.

BATS: Fearsome Winged Insects

BY 2ND LT. RYAN MORGAN

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

There are two possible reasons behind why you're reading this article. The first is that you're a huge Calvin and Hobbes fan, instantly caught the allusion in the title and feel very proud of yourself for that. The second is that having seen the title, you were in awe of its idiocy and wondered what else might this writer have written here - it's the same reason you spend hours watching internet movies on your computer.

You can't look away, I understand. However, the real reason you should be reading this is because it contains valuable information for your health and safety. For you see, we share this base and the surrounding San Angelo area with bats.

Bats are mammals that eat the bugs that annoy us. It's a simple relationship, though sometimes we have to be very careful because bats, like other animals, can carry rabies.

Last week, a member of our Goodfellow team came across an injured bat and attempted to help it into a nearby tree.

Having interacted with the bat, the member contacted healthcare officials, received treatment and is fine. It could have been a very different scenario had the bat been rabid and the person not sought out the proper care.

I stopped by Public Health and talked with Capt. Jose Diaz and Tech Sgt. Sigler, who are extremely knowledgeable, and they passed along some tips and hints for avoiding a trip to their office:

- Stay away from bats. If you stay away you won't be bitten, simple as that. Do not go looking for Batman in the Batcave, he will find you if he needs you.

If you see an injured bat or a bat that has become trapped inside a building contact Entomology Dispatch at 654-3436 and they will remove the animal.

- If for some reason you do come in physical contact with a bat and you were bitten or are not entirely sure, you need to wash the affected area thoroughly then contact Public Health at 654-3123 and they will be more than happy to help you out. Bats have very fine teeth so it is possible that you may not always know that you have been bitten.

When in doubt, the best course of action is to immediately seek medical attention and let them take care of you.

- If you do go to Public Health with a possible bite situation, they will treat you as an exposure to rabies case.

The most important thing to remember is that bats are not just cute flying mice here for our enjoyment - they are wild animals and should be treated as such with caution and respect.

Do not panic or fret, we are not in danger of rising bat attacks. Take this opportunity to educate yourselves and your families, and simply be aware that some of the bats that live around us may carry rabies and should you come into contact with a bat you need to seek proper medical attention.

So now you know, and knowing is half the battle.

BACK IN THE KITCHEN...

BY JAY TEAGUE

ASST. FIRE CHIEF

Summertime in San Angelo is enough to deter anyone from slaving over a hot stove, but with summer finally winding down, and cooler temperatures moving in, the kitchen is now the heart of the family again.

Many people do not realize how rapidly a fire can ignite and spread in the home while cooking. According to the United States Fire Administration, more than 4,000 Americans die each year in fires, and more than 20,000 are injured.

In the fire department, we come across many who believe a fire cannot, and will not ever happen to them. But, did the 24,000 people affected last year by fire at home expect it would happen to them?

The first step in protecting yourself and your family is to adopt the right attitude. One must understand that fire is not selective; it doesn't care what race, religion or social status you exhibit. Fire, like us, is a living, breathing thing. We need food, it needs fuel; we need oxygen, fire needs oxygen; our bodies must maintain heat, fire needs heat. If you take away any one of these elements, just as we would die, so will fire. Prevention is your best weapon against fire.

Once you have adopted the right attitude, you must take the necessary precautions to prevent fires in your home. Make sure every floor in your home has a smoke detector. Changing batteries often is vital for your detector's continued operation. Do not rely on a detector's low battery audible warning. Never leave cooking unattended, not even to walk outside and move the lawn sprinkler. Do not wear long sleeves or loose clothing while cooking. Always keep towels, pot-holders and curtains away from heat sources. Keep cleaning surfaces clean and free from grease build-up which could ignite. When using cooking oil, heat it gradually to prevent popping and splatter. Always double check the kitchen before going to bed or leaving the house to ensure everything is turned off. Last but not least, make sure to have a fire extinguisher located somewhere handy that would allow access without having to go near a fire in the kitchen. If you do not know much about extinguisher types and use, contact or come by the fire department. We offer hands-on training for the whole family.

Imagine this scenario: loud screams are suddenly resounding from the kitchen smoke detector. You rush in to find a fire billowing from the skillet you left for only a minute. Now you have left fire prevention mode, and entered fire protection mode.

What do you do? If the fire is still within the cooking vessel in which it started, simply put a lid over it. Doing so will take away oxygen the fire needs, smothering it. Do not remove the lid for at least 30 minutes, and make sure the heat source is turned off. Never put water on a grease fire. It will spread the fire to uninvolved areas. If the flames have become too large to smother with a lid, that is the time to grab your strategically located extinguisher.

If after discharging the entire extinguisher, the fire is still burning, call 911 from a cell (654-7000 on Goodfellow AFB) or neighbor's phone after evacuating everyone from the house.

Remember, adopt the right attitude, watch what you heat, and get back in the kitchen.

Chili Cook-off keeps on kickin'

The 17th Services Division held the 32nd Annual Armed Forces International Chili Cook-Off at the Goodfellow Recreational Camp Sept. 29 and Saturday.

Approximately 200 people attended this year's chili cook-off to watch, smell and taste the delicious recipes of chili and barbecue chefs. The weather was bright and sunny with a pleasant breeze that helped diffuse the aroma of spices and smoked wood throughout the camp.

The cook-off had more than a dozen teams competing in eight different categories, four of which were chili categories.

"I thought the event went very well. The weather was great and the food was delicious, mmm yum," smiled 1st Lt. Roxanna Broncy, 17th Service Division combat support flight deputy commander and member competition participant.

"My husband Robert and I look forward to coming back to next year's chili cook-off.

Angelo Inn gets makeover

New lobby more modern

BY 2ND LT. RYAN MORGAN

PUBLIC AFFAIRS

At 3 p.m. Tuesday, ribbons will be cut and the new and improved Angelo Inn front desk and lobby area will be presented to Goodfellow Air Force Base.

Following a five-month renovation that began in April, lodging manager Philip Gomes said he is very proud to show off the renovation, courtesy of Southwind Construction, in conjunction with the 17th Civil Engineer Squadron SABRE project.

"Absolutely wonderful," replied Mr. Gomes when asked how he felt about the new look of the renovations.

"Everyone is very glad to be back, and operating out of the new front desk and lobby area."

The total renovation costs came to $103,000 and include a new layout design, new wall coverings, and a new front desk, giving the Angelo Inn a touch of modern class and revitalizing the entire atmosphere for employees and guests alike.

Concerning the amenities afforded in the lobby, the only change is the ATM is now located in the rear of the lobby near the MyPay machine.

However, the makeover isn't complete just yet. A project to upgrade 126 Visiting Officer Quarters and seven senior NCO suites, to replace carpet, drapes, bedspreads, sofas and recliners is planned for fiscal year 2007 and will expand upon the already impressive first glimpse given to the guests and visitors at the Angelo Inn.

Goodfellow Warriors On Target

BY STAFF SGT. CARISSA LEE

EDITOR

It's no secret in today's Air Force that each Airman must be ready to, and probably will at some point in their career, deploy overseas.

With deployments becoming more routine and predictable thanks to the Aerospace Expeditionary Force rotations, Airmen must receive the best training available and programs like the Global War On Terror Training course, offered at Goodfellow AFB, our Airmen are highly skilled.

Gone are the days of training scattered from one month to the next. GWOT brings them all together in one location.

The program, which was once offered just prior to an Airman deploying, has recently been expanded to allow for more people to attend.

"What we have done is broaden our audience," said Maj. Pat Baker, 17th Civil Engineer Squadron commander.

"The training provides basic combat skills to all our Airmen, with a priority of seating given to those who are deploying in the next AEF cycle. Our goal is to provide a set of skills, and the confidence needed to use them, to all Goodfellow's Airmen assigned to an AEF."

So what does GWOT cover? Well, pretty much everything an Airman needs to know in a deployed environment.

The week-long course is intense, with days beginning at 5:30 a.m. for an hour of physical training. Each day is jam-packed with different modules of training.

But the training begins before they even step into the classroom. According to Wayne Click, 17 CE Readiness Flight chief, students must complete several online courses, such as Use of Force, Law of Armed Conflict and Explosive Ordnance Reconnaissance, before starting training.

"The course itself includes topics such as convoy operations, defensive fighting procedures, night operations, antiterrorism and force protection themes," he said.

Feedback has been positive thus far, according to Mr. Click. "I think the people who have deployed to locations that put them in danger realize how important this training is. Once you are in a situation that allows you to use the training, then you start to understand why the training is so important," he said.

One former student, a captain, explained to Mr. Click that the first time he deployed he had no training prior to departing and learning how to respond to enemy attacks without the training wasn't something he was prepared for.

"Needless to say, he was more than happy to be in the class and wished the Air Force had offered it prior to his first deployment," Mr. Click added.

The classes are offered quarterly, and although the format is consistent, each class will offer new ways to improve on the already existing training.

"Any time we can make a change for the better, we will," Mr. Click said.

"For example, in past classes it was noted that more emphasis needed to be put on weapons familiarization prior to deploying. With that feedback, security forces now spends more time providing weapons training. The result is that when people arrive in country they are comfortable handling and operating the M-16 they have been issued."

If Airmen haven't had the chance to experience the training provided by GWOT, their time will come, if they are assigned to an AEF cycle. And the training is invaluable, according to Mr. Click.

"Anytime you are being taught skills that could possibly save your life, it suddenly becomes critical training," he said.

"All one needs to do is find someone who has been in the fight and you will find someone who takes this type of training very seriously." (Photo of Staff Sgt. Thomas Waldrop aiming by Staff Sgt. John Barton.)

Some Airmen
can carry over 'use or lose' leave

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas - Airmen who were recalled from or unable to take annual leave this past year for reasons such as support for contingency operations may be allowed to accumulate more than the normal 60 days after the fiscal year ends.

Special leave accrual carry over also applies to Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard members who performed full-time training or other full-time duties for 30 days or more.

Airmen who lost leave may carry over the following leave amounts:

- ◆ Up to 120 days for Airmen deployed or assigned to hostile fire/imminent danger pay areas;
- ◆ Up to 120 days for Airmen impacted by significant and unforeseen operational mission requirements as a result of Hurricane Katrina; and
- ◆ Up to 90 days for Airmen who deployed or were assigned to other than hostile fire/imminent danger locations.

Additionally, Airmen who lost leave as a consequence of assignments in support of contingency operations as of Sept. 30, 2006 are authorized restoration of the leave they lost.

"The purpose of SLA is to prevent Airmen from losing accrued leave if they're unable to take normal leave due to significant and unforeseen operational requirements," said Master Sgt. Deitra Mathis, superintendent of current operations customer support at the Air Force Personnel Center here. "Airmen who find themselves in use or lose status must use their leave before taking advantage of post-deployment recovery time. Use of recovery time is not a valid reason for reinstatement of lost leave when accrued leave could have been taken in its place."

Those Airmen who meet the criteria for having excess leave should contact their local military personnel flight customer service element for additional guidance, such as eligibility to carry over leave beyond the following fiscal year. (Article courtesy of Air Force Personnel Center.)

Employment opportunities

Air Force Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps has immediate employment opportunities for retired or retiring Air Force officers and NCOs.

If you retired within the past 10 years or less, or are 6 months from retirement, you may qualify to be an AFJROTC instructor.

AFJROTC currently has 13 officer and NCO vacancies in Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma and a total of 85 vacancies worldwide.

To submit an AFJROTC instructor application and learn more about the program, go to <http://www.afoats.af.mil> (select "AFJROTC") or contact Ms. Jo Alice Talley, Chief of Instructor Management, toll free at 1-866-235-7682, extension 7742, DSN: 493-7742, or commercial (334) 953-7742.

Airman and Family Readiness Flight

The Airman and Family Readiness Flight offers the following services:

◆ Getting Started with stocks: Wednesday, 11 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Topics include types of stocks, evaluating brokers and commissions; risk assessment; research tools. Register on-line. This class is Part 4 of a four-part Lunch and Learn Financial Series. The first three parts are recommended, but not required: Secrets to Financial Success, Investing 101, Understanding Mutual Funds.

◆ Smooth Move: October 16, 1-3 p.m., in Bldg 300. Help reduce moving-related stress by attending this informative seminar. Experts from TMO, Finance, Legal Office Claims Processing, TRICARE, Housing, and the Airman and Family Readiness Flight will brief and answer questions about your upcoming move. Spouses are encouraged to attend.

◆ Sponsorship Training: Oct. 16, 3-4:15 p.m. Just being a sponsor is not enough; a sponsor must be motivated, concerned for the needs of the newcomer, and creative.

During training the sponsor will receive information on available resources, relay some proven tools of good sponsorship and ignite the spark for creative sponsorship.

◆ Solo Flight (Single Parent Support Group): Thursday at 11 a.m., at Golden Corral Restaurant (pay as you go/military discount). This group meets at a restaurant each month, to discuss issues that affect single parents. It is open to all branches of service; military or civilian, and includes "temporary" single parents due to sponsor's TDY/deployment/remote assignment.

◆ Workforce Solutions of the Concho Valley: Every Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon a representative from the Texas Workforce Commission is available at the Airman and Family Readiness Flight Annex, Bldg. 246.

They will be able to help with issues concerning unemployment compensation, job search, job training and help people create a draft resume in 30 minutes.

◆ Secrets to financial success: Oct. 18, 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Part 1 of a four-part Lunch and Learn financial series. Learn how to control your finances so they don't control you. Participants learn how to quickly reduce debt, analyze tax brackets, evaluate interest rates, compute a personal debt to income ratio, evaluate types of life insurance, prepare a budget, and save for emergencies.

MOVIES

Movies start at 7 p.m. in the base theater unless otherwise noted. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 11. Movie times and shows are subject to change without notice.

World Trade Center

Today and Saturday

Nicolas Cage and Michael Pena star in this film rated PG-13. In the aftermath of the World Trade Center disaster, hope is still alive. Rescuers and family of the victims press forward driven by the faith that under each piece of rubble, a co-worker, a friend or a family member may be found. This is the true story of John McLoughlin and William J. Jimeno, the last two survivors extracted from Ground Zero and the rescuers who never gave up.

Material Girls

Sunday at 6 p.m.

Hilary and Haylie Duff star in this PG-rated film. Ava and Tanzie Marchetta, the heiresses to a multi-million dollar cosmetics company, approach life as one big party. But when a scandal involving one of their products emerges, the girls are left penniless, homeless, and seemingly helpless. They could take the easy way out and listen to the board of directors who want to sell the company to their biggest competitor, but that would forever taint the name of their late father, who built it from the ground up. Instead, Ava and Tanzie decide to protect what is rightfully theirs.

Crossover

Thursday

Anthony Mackie and Shellie Boone star in this film rated PG-13. Noah Cruise, a talented basketball player, is determined to become a doctor using his basketball scholarship to UCLA rather than succumbing to the lure of a former sports agent. Noah's best friend, Tech, is also an outstanding player, but has less lofty ambitions--he wants to get his GED and win an underground street ball game against an arrogant rival, Jewelz. Noah and Tech's lives drastically change when they both fall in love with two local girls, Vanessa Lilly and Eboni Jackson, and take a fateful trip out to L.A. together.

First Lt. Barbara Monge and members of the 2-mile run competition pose for group photo after being presented their first place trophy.

ARMYDILLO RUN STILL GOING STRONG AT 16

The 344th Military Intelligence Battalion hosted the 16th annual Armydillo Run Saturday at Mary E. Lee Park at Lake Nasworthy. Approximately 1,000 people attended the event designed to raise funds for the 344's Sentinel Fund, a program designed to assist Army personnel and their families in times of need. This year's run had more than 250 competitors from various organizations, ages and places competing in more than a dozen categories for the 10-kilometer and two-mile run. The run also featured static displays, a rock climbing tower, a $1 raffle and a barbecue plate sale. There were 50 Army and Air Force volunteers at this year's run. "We are very thankful to our volunteers. Without them an event this large would not be possible," said Sgt. 1st Class Gary Everett, an Armydillo Run coordinator. "This year's Armydillo Run had a positive feedback from the community. People of all ages participated and each enjoyed the run as much as the other. Many said that it was the best "Armydillo Run" so far; a first class event, said 1st Lt. Barbara Monge, another Armydillo Run coordinator.

Pfcs. Marc Lopez and Damaris Thompson check out the custom H-2 Hummer on display.

First Lt. Barbara Monge hands 9-year-old Aidan Allen a $30-gift certificate from Academy Sports. The certificate was one of more than two dozen prizes given in a raffle at this year's Armydillo Run.

Pvt. Andrew Creighton makes sure the lock and straps of a young, rock climbing participant are secure.
